The smart thing to do would be to find cover and stay dry.
And DON'T panic!

The cold made her finger ache.

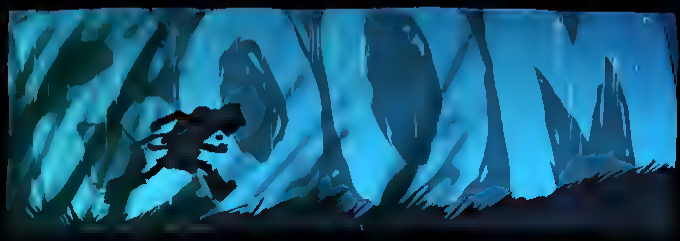
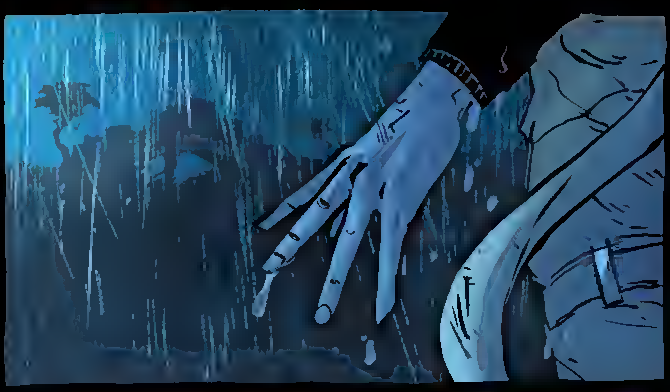
AH!
Don't panic!

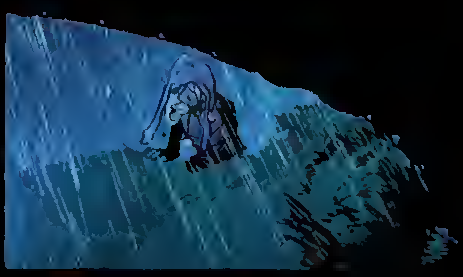


BOOM

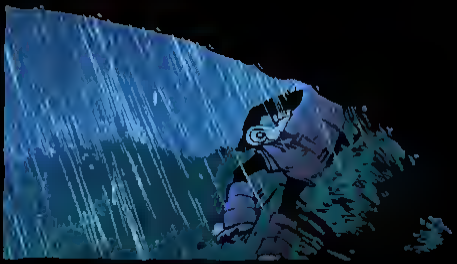
And Get out of the Rain



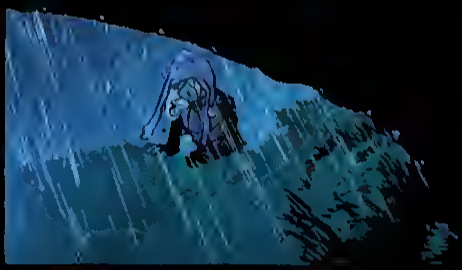
They'd gone camping together so many times before, Nirvana and her dad. This was no different, she told herself.



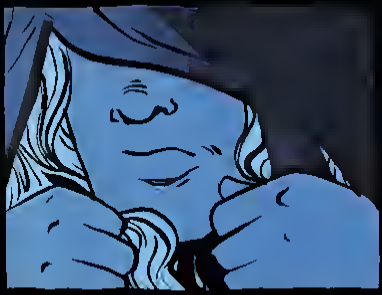
She almost believed it.



They'd gone camping together so many times before, Nirvana and her dad. This was no different, she told herself.



And her finger. . .



She almost believed it.

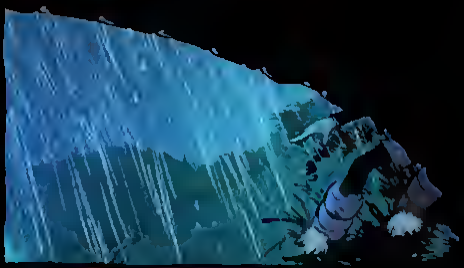
Except then, they'd had warm sleeping bags. And marshmallows over the fire.



She tried her best to be brave. It wouldn't do if he found her crying like this. Be brave. Save the tears for when she would throw her arms around him.

"You did well,"
she wanted to hear him say...

"You did so well, my brave, brave girl."
